

The Year Gone, and The Year Ahead

In the gone year,
someone has gone and someone has come.

In the coming year,
as the same as this,
something is going and something is coming.

However,
the time is going whenever
and never stops forever.

Nobody knows,
where the time goes.

Nobody knows,
whether the time back comes.

We don't know
how much time we do have.

We don't know
how far away the death is from us.

Nevertheless,
the time we have is decreasing indeed,
and the time we have is coming indeed.

We can't keep us stay in the past,
and we can't make us stay in the future.

We only have the present.

Although,
the time is like a river going forever,
But if we know what should we do,
and try our best to do it.

You will know
the present is the best present
which the time gives to you.

Just do it,
and try your best.

Happy New Year!

2022.12.31